I hate setting here reading about all the people in Texas needing help. It bothers the hell out of me to see people in need and not able to help. I see them needing boats and high water vehicles. I was talking to Alicia Rouse about this last night. If I could pull it off or thought it would do any good I'd get my buddy Steve Okeefe who I know is crazy enough to go with us and take some boats and trucks and go do anything we could do.. If anyone of our friends is reading this or can help us out please share or let us know what you can do.

The two teams together, Team Cajun Invasion is made up of Katrina survivors

After unloading at the drop point, a couple of Frank's drivers actually helped delivery loads to Houston. So much Devastation that it was next to impossible to successfully deliver to Houston. That is where Team Cajun Invasion came and knew exactly where to go.
